WALK-OUT DAY IS BIG EVENT OF FALL TERM

ALMOST FIVE HUNDRED STUDENTS WALK OUT FOR ANNUAL FALL PICNIC AND DAY OF FUN

Several days of suspense and neglect-lessons were ended soon after eight o'clock Thursday morning, when Walk-Out at last arrived. At the first flare of the trumpet announcing this additional holiday the students rushed from the classrooms with whoops of joy. Pandemonium reigned in the halls as students hurriedly threw their books into lockers and made their way toward the auditorium, where Clarence Woolsey, president of the Senior Class, announced plans for the day.

The first event of the day was staged when upperclassmen entertained the freshman boys with the "belt line" on Main street. A large crowd of students and other spectators viewed this exhibition, which was more entertaining to them probably than to the boys who were forced to submit. The "belt line" was followed by a special show at the Missouri Theater, where the students saw Marie Dressler in "Emma." At noon the seniors served a picnic luncheon at Atherton's park northeast of Maryville. A free dinner for everybody had been made possible by a donation from the Student Activity Fund of the College. The serving of the food was so well managed that the crowd of almost five hundred was done quickly and easily.

Many expressed themselves about the dinner, saying that it was the best Walk-Out Day dinner that had ever been served. The menu consisted of roast meat-loaf, hot baked beans, perfection salad moulded in lily cups, bread and butter sandwiches, apples, coffee, and mints. The foods committee, under the chairmanship of Maude Qualls, not only served but prepared most of the food in the foods laboratory, where they were assisted by Miss Ruth Blanshan, of the Home Economics Department, and by Miss Mattie M. Dykes, business adviser for the Senior class. The baked beans and the coffee were prepared by the College Cafeteria. Serving on the foods committee were, besides Miss Qualls: Maxine Hudson, Ruth Kramer, Virginia Myers, and Lucile Leeson. Many other members of the senior class assisted.

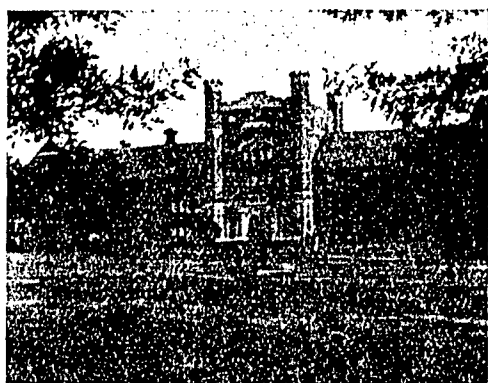

Clarence Woolsey, president of the class, Maude Qualls, vice-president, and Gladys Cooper, secretary-treasurer, served as the general arrangements committee.

No plans were made for the afternoon. The beautiful autumn day, however, lured many to spend the hours in the out-of-doors, some driving, some wandering in the woods, some playing golf. Others went to Residence Hall and indulged in dancing. The committee, efficient to the last minute, spent considerable time in the foods laboratory cleaning the pots and pans. The remains of the food—sandwiches, meat loaf, and baked beans—were given to the Welfare Board for distribution to people who could make use of

TWO CHANGES MADE IN CONTEST PLANS

Two important conclusions were reached at a meeting in Columbia, Saturday, October 15, of the presidents of the State Teachers Colleges, a representative of the University of Missouri, the managers of the spring contests, the directors of the music sections of the spring contests, the basketball coaches of the colleges represented, and Mr. Carl Burris, secretary of the State Athletic Association.

The first of these conclusions was that all high schools of the state should be divided into three classes as follows: Class A—all schools of over 750; Class B—schools of from 150 to 750; Class C—all schools under 150. All Class B and Class C schools may subdivide themselves if desired.

The second conclusion reached was that there should be state-wide contests in all music organizations instead of band and orchestra only as heretofore. The winners in the several district contests will go to the state-wide contest at Columbia. In order to win state-wide contests, each contesting organization must be certified by the district contest, except in the case of Class A schools, which may compete directly without entering district contests.

The basketball schedule for the year was made out at this meeting. Those who attended from Maryville were: President Uel W. Lamkin, Mr. Herbert Dieterich, who went as a contest manager and as a representative of the coaches; and Mr. Charles R. Gardner, director of music contests.

MAJORS EACH INVITE INSTRUCTOR TO DINE

The girls of Residence Hall, who are majoring in Social Science, Manual Arts, Home Economics, Mathematics, Music, and Primary and Intermediate Education, entertained the instructors of these departments at a dinner given Wednesday evening, October 12. The details of the dinner were carried out in honor of Columbus day.

Twenty-nine guests and thirty dormitory girls were present, each girl having invited one member of the faculty as her individual guest. The guests were as follows: President and Mrs. Lamkin, Dean Sharley K. Pike, Dr. and Mrs. Foster, Dr. and Mrs. Dildine, Mr. Caulfield, Mr. Cook, Miss Roberta Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Valk, Miss Hettie Anthony, Miss Ruth Blanshan, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Hickernell, Mr. William Holdridge, Mr. Charles R. Gardner, Miss Ruth Morris, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Colbert, Dr. Ralph Hull, Miss Chloe E. Millikan, Miss Irene Smith, Miss Dora B. Smith, and Miss Mary Keith, Miss Adelaide E. Crane, house director, and Miss Estelle Campbell, assistant house director, were also present.

RED CROSS HAS CONFERENCE TO DISCUSS PLANS

Maryville was represented at a regional conference of the Red Cross at the Kansas City Athletic Club, Oct. 13, by Dr. O. Myking Mehus, vice-president of the Maryville chapter; Mr. W. H. Burr, county superintendent of schools and district chairman of the Junior Red Cross; Mrs. Virginia Crull, secretary of the local Red Cross Committee; and Mr. Stephen G. LaMar, Roll Call chairman for Maryville and the State Teachers College.

The work ahead of the Red Cross for the coming year was discussed by officers of the Midwest Area and National Headquarters. Emphasis was placed on the fact that the Red Cross must meet the present situation in the same way that it did the emergency in the World War, since as far as the work of the Red Cross is concerned, the present situation is just as big a disaster as at that time.

The Red Cross had a considerable fund of money left on reserve after the World War and has been using it as needed for emergencies since that time. It has been estimated that this year, with conditions which will cause large expenditures, will probably consume what is left of this fund. In 1930, the Red Cross took in $138,000,000 and spent $38,500,000 more; in 1931 the expenditures exceeded the amount taken in by $2,815,000.

In the face of these facts, a tremendous task lies ahead.

Blood-red of fall-touched oak,
And waxy orange flame of the

Slim shafts of cat-tails,
And the yellowing-green of willows.

Merges autumn tints with winter shadows

ASSISTANT LIBRARIAN GETS STATE OFFICE

Miss Lucile Brumbaugh, assistant librarian of the College, has been honored by being elected treasurer of the Missouri Library Association. Miss Brumbaugh and Mr. Wells attended the meeting of the American Library Association in Des Moines, Iowa, October 12-15.

At this meeting about forty-five Missouri librarians were present, Cape Girardeau, Kirksville, and Maryville State Teachers Colleges being represented. Miss Sadie T. Kent of Cape Girardeau, president of the Missouri Library Association, presided at a breakfast and at one of the General Meetings. Mr. H. M. Lydenberg, president A. L. A., was the guest speaker at the M. L. A. breakfast.

The Missouri Library Association held a business meeting, Thursday morning, October 13, and elected, besides Miss Brumbaugh, the following officers: President, Miss Jessie Stemmons, of Carthage; vice-president, Mrs. Grace Hill, of Kansas City; secretary, Mrs. Grace Young, of Sedalia.

The membership committee, of which C. E. Wells is chairman, doubled the membership for 1932. Throughout the entire meeting there was a note of optimism. The librarians are doing the best possible with limited budgets and funds.

COLLEGE ALUMNA IS KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Bessie Haskell, B. S. 1932, was fatally injured in an automobile accident, Sunday afternoon, October 16, while driving near Denver, Colorado. The message telling of the accident and the injury reached her family Sunday night; another message Monday morning brought the news of her death.

Miss Haskell lived at the Newman Club during her student days. She was graduated from the College with a major in Fine Arts. Since graduation she has been teaching. This year she was at Englewood, a suburb of Denver, where she taught art and music in the grades. She was a fine young woman with many friends who will be grieved to hear of her death.

June Haskell, a sister, is a freshman in college here this fall. Gladys Haskell, another sister who was a former student, is now married and living in Colorado.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB HEARS TARIFF DEBATE

Tariff was the subject under discussion by the Social Science Club at the first regular meeting of the fall quarter, Tuesday, October 11, at 7:30, in Room 205.

Clarence Woolsey, speaking on the side of the anti-protectionists, advocated discarding the tariff as far as is wise. He did not, however, advocate entire abolition. Wallace Culver, taking the other side, upheld the protectionists. After their talks the meeting was thrown open for discussion.

Officers for the quarter, elected at a previous meeting are: President, Russell Noblet, Graham; vice-president, Charles Hurley, Secretary, Maryland; and secretary-treasurer, Grace Westfall, Maryville. Sylvia Glauser, Maryville, is chairman of the program committee. The other members of the committee are: C. J. Merrigan, Maryville, and Marvin Shamberger, Graham.

The next meeting of the Club will be Tuesday, October 25.

Y. W. ENTERTAINS FIELD SECRETARY

Miss Fern Babcock, Field Secretary of the National Y. W. C. A., was at the college Monday afternoon and Tuesday. She addressed the Y. W. Cabinet on Monday evening and on Tuesday evening she spoke at the regular meeting at 5:00. From 3:00 till 5:00 on Monday afternoon the Y. W. girls sponsored a tea in her honor.

She spoke at an open meeting Tuesday at 2:00. At 6:00 on Tuesday evening the Y. W. C. A. girls entertained her at the Y. W. Hut. A Potluck Supper was served and Miss Babcock spoke to the girls on the work of the organization.

The Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority is having a luncheon at the Country Club Friday, October 21, in honor of the new pledges, patronesses and alumnae in observance of Founder's Day and Home Coming.

MACHINE IS NOT TO BLAME SAYS MR. E. W. MOUNCE

COMMERCE MAN WRITES ARTICLE ON RELATION OF MACHINE TO PRESENT UNEMPLOYMENT.

"Why Blame the Machine?" is the title of an article written by Mr. Mounce, of the Commerce Department, and published in a recent issue of the "American Federationist."

In this article, Mr. Mounce contends that the basic cause of technological unemployment is not the machine itself, but the method of distributing the savings made possible by the machine. He points out that these savings may go in any one of three directions—to the laborer, to the consumer, or to the capitalist.

"It is undoubtedly clear," writes Mr. Mounce, "that where the benefits of the machine go either to labor or to the public, labor permanently benefits from the introduction of the machine. The machine is the friend and ally of labor, and if the fruits of the machine are properly distributed the standard of living of all will be raised by its use. The fault is not with the use of the machine but with the method by which the benefits of the machine are distributed. Criticism should not be leveled against the machine but against the way the saving is distributed."

"Remember," Mr. Mounce says in closing, "we might prefer the independent life of our forefathers and hesitate to make the above suggested changes; yet we can not turn back the pages of history. We must not forget that we are now living in a new and rapidly changing economic world and we must readjust ourselves to it. It must be made possible for all of us to live in it or else it may be that none of us will find it possible to maintain ourselves for long."

A. C. E. NEW MEMBERS ENTER KINDERGARTEN

New members of the association of Childhood education became Kindergarten Children last Monday night, October 17, and spent the evening in regular Kindergarten activity. The college bus brought the "Kiddies," decked in their gay gingham dresses, to the college where they immediately donned tennis shoes and started creative play. Some chose to mould the clay and cut pumpkins and cats while others preferred to enjoy the slide and teeter-totter. Each child then reclined on her mat for a brief rest, after which refreshments of cider and doughnuts were served, each child drinking from a milk bottle with straws. Ruth Miller then called the "Kiddies" together and entertained them with a delightful story after which they sang songs, skipped, and danced. The bus then arrived and took the little ones back to their mothers, each one bubbling with excitement over their first day at Kindergarten.

The "children" who attended were: Velma Cass, Eileen Johnson, Genevra Bradley, Mary Katherine McKendry, Josephine Lake, Berniece Miller, Lois Barrett, Naomi Broyles, Doris Jennings, Margaret Turney, Twila Fink, Mildred Sorrie, Mary Elizabeth Myers, Margaret Humphreys, Jeanie Logan, Dorothy Henderson, and Frances Shively.

Active members present were: Virginia Miller, Kathryn Fossati, Edna Kepler, Virginia Utz, Mildred Wilson, Lucile Lackey, Lola Belle Sutterlin, Genevieve Wilson, Irene Smith, Ruth Miller, Dorothy Glenn, and Miss Chloe Millikan.

Men Hold Mass Meeting

A mass meeting of the men of the college-faculty and students, was held in the Auditorium, Tuesday evening, October 18. A program, on which President Lamkin was the principal speaker, was arranged by the Y. M. C. A.

STUDENT POLITICS

Washington once wrote to Hamilton, "Differences in political opinion are as unavoidable as, to a certain extent, they may perhaps be necessary."

That there is a great deal of difference in political opinion, that there is a keen and manifested interest in current affairs, that there are two sides to every question, can hardly be denied by a wide awake, normal person today. The air is fuming and whirling with political unrest and bigotry. Both incumbents and aspirants to the well-known seats in that nebula called celebrity, and to those favorite seats of power in our great political corporation, are striding up and down our highways and by-ways, propounding their doctrines with the utmost zeal and unabated oratory. From pug to president, everyone is interested; nearly everyone is active. All of this should arouse the student, who is a seeker of the truth to action to seek the best possible solution of the way out of the miserable muddle we are in. There is no better place to learn human nature than in your own home; there is no better place to practice manners than at your own table. In the same light, there is no better place to practice honest politics, no better place to try theories of government, than in your own student government.

Every student must co-operate; every student must shoulder his share of the responsibility, or corruption will come in our representative system as assuredly as it has in national and state and local politics.

When discussing issues with your fellow student or classmate or others, for the love of truth and justice and common sense, be broad-minded enough to exercise a little charity in deciding on the opinions and actions of one another. Allow your friend to submit his decisions on the one hand, without having the motives which led to them improperly implicated on the other.

If college men and women are going to recognize and realize a worthy objective of education they must have the courage and strength to stand for clean politics. If they have not that courage, they certainly will never have the courage to raise a finger against the invisible government in their home town, against the gangster and the racketeer.

In your student government, beware of the man asking for an office. This is the first place to strike. Cut down the serpent in the beginning. Never tolerate the man who has some ulterior motive for seeking the position as your representative. Choose rather the man who is fitted to be your representative, whether he asks election or not.

The question to put to yourselves and to your officers is: -Are you strong enough to stand for the right and the justice? According to your decisions will the destinies of the government and the student body itself be decided.

H. S. U. Elects Officers

The boys of Residence Hall met last week and organized for the current school year and elected officers. The officers chosen were: President, Russell Noblet; vice-president, Lee Dunham; secretary and treasurer, Mac Egendorf. The H. S. U., is one of the most active organizations on the campus. It aims to foster efficient co-operation between fellow-workers and develop an understanding between the administration and both boys and girls at the hall.

Dr. O. Myking Menus, of the Social Science Department, has been appointed a member of the Committee on Family Welfare, which is one of the divisions of the State Conference on Social Welfare. He will attend a meeting of this committee at Kansas City on October 23.

STROLLER

Such a good time the Stroller had on Walk-Out Day! Like a good many of students, and even some of the faculty, he got fooled a little Tuesday, though he was not quite so foolish as the student who was so confident the Stroller would blow that day that she would not bring her lunch.

The best one the Stroller heard on the faculty's detective work in order to find out when the day was coming was Mr. Phillips. Calling up the Country Club with the tone of a member of a committee who would have authority, he asked, "Is everything ready for Walk-Out?"

The Stroller knows he was answered affirmatively, but has not yet discovered whether Mr. Phillips went out there for his lunch.

An upper-classman who was eager for the Walk-Out bugle to blow Tuesday said as he started for his next class the Stroller thinks it wise not to mention what that class was, "Now I know just how Louis XVI. felt when he went to the guillotine!"

Walk-Out is not the only day that is mixed up in people's minds. The Stroller is willing to bet that Virginia and Grace Westfall find out what the dancing class is going to meet before they go down and get ready again.

The Stroller, as well as everybody else, has been mystified over who or what broke the window in the music room. Many theories have been advanced. One is that "Uncle Charley" saw the window out, but somebody has exploded that idea by observing that the glass had fallen on the inside. The case now under investigation is whether it was broken out by the vacuum produced by the freshman Music 11a class.

Not all the freshman could qualify for vacuum-producers, however, the Stroller hurries to observe. Witness the sight one who has discovered that Hazel and Sparks are not the winning candidates for the Student Council, but two men by the names of Leztem and Traps. For proof, he pointed to the signs on the walks. Of course, some people never know whether they are coming or going!

But "Humps" knows "Mop-Top" all right! Who's she? Oh, that's his new name for Margaret—Puss's friend.

Now, honestly, folks, wouldn't you be tired of sorts over this if you were in the Stroller's place?

Two college boys were outside the south door making their contribution to the official wood-pile when one of them picked up an inquisitive grasshopper and started to pull off one of its legs.

"Don't!" cried his companion in genuine horror.

"Why not?" said the other, probably objecting to provoke a lecture on his belly.

"It might be the Stroller!" was the answer.

The Stroller has not had a rival for long he hardly knows how to treat him, but anyhow, he does wonder if "Humps" wore out all his shoe-leather on Walk-Out Day. Did you see his boots? Should have a fat column this week with all that to go on.

There is another thing the Stroller wonders about too. Are all the new bobs the result of laziness or a lack of funds to buy hair-pins?

Dr. Hake, the Stroller has been told, is wondering who brought the fleas in the laboratory. Ever ask Mr. Garrett whether they have been dissecting fleas in zoology? The Stroller wonders how they ever keep the things still long enough for that!

If Dr. Hake is worried by the fleas in the laboratory, the Stroller suggests that he call in Dick Barrett and L. N. Bricken, who did a splendid piece of work in the West Library. It would be of interest to know which of the two really did kill the most flies.

Dick and L. N. would have a fair chance to put the fleas out of business with such a record of success as they have, for it is just as Dr. Painter says, "Each thing that succeeds must proceed out of that which precedes." (How's that for sowing seeds?)

The Stroller has not been able to sleep since Dayle Allen joined a mid-night class in saxophone playing. Dayle thinks he plays a little too loudly, perhaps, since his landlady as well as the Stroller commented rather sharply upon the matter.

Dayle should have taken his instrument along to the show on Walk-Out day when he went to see "Emma." If he had, though, the Stroller might have missed this touching dialogue which he overheard above the sniffling:

Dean Mickey—"I wish I had my Jew's harp to blow."

Little Lawrence—"I've got my pipe. We might blow bubbles."

It was all right, boys, the Stroller shed a few tears himself.

If the Stroller does not stop running on at this rate, Wallace Culver will be quoting him next, or at least citing him as an authority, for Wallace believes in going to original sources. His method is somewhat like this. Bringing his fist down on the table with a resounding thud to emphasize the importance of his statement, he shouts, "If you don't believe we need a high tariff, just ask Charlie Curtis or Forte Sandison!"

Writers' Club Reorganizes.

A group of students met Wednesday, October 12, to reorganize the Writers' Club. The following officers were elected: president, Ruth VanSant; vice-president, Grace Wilma Westfall; secretary-treasurer, Lucille Chambers. A committee was appointed to draw up regulations for the club.

All students who are interested in writing are urged to affiliate with this organization. The next meeting will be October 26, at 5 o'clock in room 226.

Glen Duncan Takes Position

Glenn Duncan, one of the members of the 1932 graduating class, has taken a position with the Bridge Division of the state highway department. He works out of Jefferson City. It will be remembered by many that Mr. Duncan entered college with the idea of taking pre-engineering work. The position which he has accepted is in line with what he had hoped to make his life work.

Fine Arts Club Entertains

The Fine Arts Club entertained with a Halloween party, Thursday evening, October 14, at Recreation Hall. The hall was tastefully decorated in Halloween colors. Entertainment was provided by cards, dancing, games, and an appropriate ghost story with the lights dimmed. Refreshments consisting of doughnuts and cider were served at the conclusion of the party.

Lewis Wrestles in St. Joseph.

Leonard Lewis, former Bearcat star and at present a student here, wrestled Jack Keoneke, of Kansas City, at the St. Joseph Auditorium last Wednesday night, before a group that filled every available seat. Kenoshe won the first fall, Lewis the second, and was giving the Kansas City rougher quite a time until he tried a flying tackle, went through the ropes and was unable to return. Mr. Lewis will probably wrestle there again soon.

LUCK CHANGES AND BEARCATS TAKE VICTORY

TEAM BRINGS HOME A 7-6 SCORE
FROM GAME AT PERU—PLAY WAS SEE-SAW AFFAIR.

Maryville turned in its first victory of the season last Saturday night by defeating the Peru Bobcats by the score of 7 to 6.

The game was a "see-saw" affair with each team kicking the ball on numerous occasions.

The Iba men showed a superior type of play, both on offense and defense throughout the game by gaining more yards from scrimmage and making at least three times as many first downs as did Peru.

The Nebraska Teachers opened the melee by kicking-off to Maryville after Captain Mack Ruth won the toss and elected to receive. Maryville made four first downs before being forced to punt.

The Bobcats of Peru made their only touchdown of the game in the second quarter when Quarterback Hatcher of the Peru Teachers intercepted one of Milner's passes and raced behind excellent interference, sixty-five yards to the goal line and six points. The Peru kick for point after touchdown was wide and the half ended, Peru Teachers, 6; Maryville, 0.

The second half opened and the game continued much in the same manner as it had throughout the first half.

Late in the third canto a Peru back again intercepted a Maryville pass and advanced forty-five yards toward the goal, but was stopped by Milner on the eight yard line. Maryville showed an exceptionally good defense and held the Nebraska team for downs and no score.

In the course of the game the Bearcats made two important threats against Peru. Once the Maryville team was held for downs when the ball rested but eight inches from the goal line. The other threat resulted in a touchdown for Maryville when Milner passed to Sloan, who in turn was obliged to run only five yards for a touchdown.

Green, freshman end, was successful in kicking goal and the score was 7 to 6 Maryville, with but three minutes remaining to be played. Maryville then kicked to Peru. In an effort to score Peru took to the air in hopes of scoring, but their attempt was futile when a Maryville back intercepted a forward and advanced the ball to the fifteen yard line. Maryville made a first down and was sure of a score when the gun sounded, ending the game and placing the Northwest Missouri Teachers in the win column for the first time in 1932.

Dunham, Sullivan and Hedge were the stars in the line while Milner, Benson, and Stigall carried the brunt of attack in the backfield.

Captain Mack Ruth of the Bearcats suffered a dislocation of the shoulder in the fourth quarter, and will probably be out of the game for about two weeks.

It was the "home coming game" for Peru and a large crowd was in attendance.

dous drive is to be made for membership. Chapters are being reorganized where old chapters have died out. Cooperation is asked of every person in the United States in helping to meet the needs of the coming year.

The Red Cross has not taken over the work of any other organization but it has given relief to millions of people in almost every county of the United States.

The U. S. Government has given the National Red Cross 250 bales of cotton to be used in making clothes for the needy of the country this winter. The cloth from this is sent to local chapters where it is made into garments to be sent back to the district offices to be redistributed. Wheat to the extent of 85,000 bushels has also been given by the government to be redistributed by the Red Cross.

Each chapter must give a report of its needs and also of the material that it has given out.
